No. 1 - 92.

NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS: Best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year. May the joy of this season remain with you and your family all year around!

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Probably nothing within a school has more impact upon students in terms of skills development, self-confidence, or classroom behavior than the personal and professional growth of their teachers...When teachers stop growing, so do their students.

-Roland Barth

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

2. Next, it is essential to gather relevant information and data. This can be done through research, consultation with experts, or by analyzing existing resources.

3. Once the information is gathered, the next step is to analyze it. This involves identifying patterns, trends, and key factors that influence the outcome.

4. After analysis, a plan or strategy should be developed. This plan should outline the steps to be taken, the resources needed, and the timeline for completion.

5. The final step is to implement the plan. This involves executing the tasks, monitoring progress, and making adjustments as needed to ensure the goal is achieved.

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and addresses, which appears to be a directory or a list of contacts. The names are written in a cursive script, and the addresses are listed below them. The list includes names such as "John A. Smith", "John B. Smith", "John C. Smith", "John D. Smith", "John E. Middle School Bookshop - Middle School is happy to announce receipt of a grant from the Lilly Foundation to establish a Bookshop for Students/Parents/Teachers. We will be joining 60 other Bookshops established in schools around the state. Why are we doing this? Well, research shows a strong relationship between voluntary reading and reading attainment. It is our goal to encourage voluntary reading by students by providing books that students will want to read. At this point, we are starting small and making this Bookshop available only within Middle School. It is our hope that we will be able eventually to expand our operation school-wide. This student managed and run Bookshop will provide lots of great opportunities for many. We'll let you know when the GRAND OPENING occurs second semester! - Mary Glenn Cullison - Supervising Teacher, Middle School

Once a position vacancy has been posted to the Job Bank, the agency is ready to begin the interview/selection process from the certified Eligibility List received from State Personnel. The Job Bank is updated every Friday and a new list is posted. The Job Bank will be posted on the ISD Personnel Bulletin Board, Alumni Hall Rm # 211, in addition to being posted at the State Personnel Dept. and other State agencies. Supervisors must inform Teresa Mynett by Tuesday of a vacancy to post to that Friday's Job Bank (weekly deadline.) Many thanks to all those parents who came to pick up their sick children so that we could make room for more! PEER COUNSELING AT ISD

It was recognized a few years ago that 1) students talk to other students before, or instead of, talking with adults and 2) the incidence of chemical dependency among the deaf is at least as high as the hearing population. With that in mind, the Volunteers in Prevention program at Fairbanks Hospital agreed to fund a peer counseling program at ISD.

To be selected for the program, interested students must 1) attend an orientation meeting, 2) fill out an application with three references from ISD staff, 3) interview with the coordinators, 4) have above average grades and be a good role model, 5) be involved in activities 6) have good leadership skills, 7) attend 3-day training retreat. We want our peer advisors to be good students, have a sense of responsibility, be mature, have good social skills and be sensitive to students' needs. Peer advisors MUST be drug-free.

In addition to listening to students talk about their problems or concerns, the peer advisors promote a drug-free school environment through a variety of activities. Their activity in October was attended by 95% of the high school students in the dorm. The students who attended played a cooperative game, learned about the "Drug-free and Proud" campaign, had pizza and received a free sweatshirt with the "Just SIGN No!" logo on the front.

Peer advisors have handled many social issues that students don't want to share with adults, such as conflicts in relationships, getting along with others, peer pressure, family conflicts, feelings of loneliness and isolation. Occasionally, students share some heavy stuff and in those cases our peer advisors are trained to refer students to appropriate adults on campus. We are fortunate that we have been able to help some students with serious problems because they felt comfortable discussing them with peers first. Peers maintain a strict policy of confidentiality except in cases where suicide is threatened or child abuse is reported. In each of these cases the peer advisor MUST contact one of their supervisors or other appropriate adult on staff.

On the reverse side you will find a referral form to use when you feel a student could benefit from contact with a peer advisor. This form needs to be filled out and returned to Mike McGeath or Suzi Guimond in the dorm or to Chuck Daube in the high school department. The three sponsors will screen the referrals and assign requests to a peer advisor. At no time are staff at ISD to ask peer advisors to deal with students who are having severe emotional or psychological problems. Please use the referral process to request the services of peer advisors.

Thanks for your interest!

Our peer advisors for the '91-'92 school year are Chris Carr, Rosa Gallimore, Deepak Gothi, Raylene Harris, Alyce Kirby, Donald Lynch, Monica Smith, Steven Sorce, Dawn Walker, Garrett Wooten.

I AM

*I am a sensitive girl who has her own silent world.
I wonder how my voice sounds and other sounds sound.*

I hear nothing but silence.

I see people talking and wonder what they say.

I want to hear everything.

I am a sensitive girl who has her own silent world.

I pretend to sing on an imaginary stage outside in the darkness.

I feel like I am the only deaf person who is afraid.

I touch the wind and wonder if it says anything to me.

I worry if I can become more deaf.

I am a sensitive girl who has her own silent world.

I understand how deaf life is.

I say I want to hear the sound of ocean.

I dream of God signing to me in Heaven.

I try to wear a hearing aid but I never do.

I hope I can hear as I get older.

I am a sensitive girl who has her own silent world.

Janet Flynn

age 14, freshman at Southeast High School in Wichita

A Poem

*My family knew I was deaf
When I was only three.*

*And since then, Fifteen years ago
Have never signed to me.*

*I know when I'm around my house
I try to use my voice.*

*It makes them feel more comfortable
For me, I have no choice.*

*I try, communicate their way
Uncomfortable for me.*

*My parents wouldn't learn to sign
Ashamed or apathy?*

*-I never cared about the sounds
Of radios, of bands.*

*What hurts me is I never heard
My parents signing hands.*
